No Indictment Is Found in Orange In Dioxide Death

Grand Jury Says No Basis Is Seen for Criminal Negligence in Tank Label

Newburgh, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—An Orange county grand jury today reported it found no basis for indictment in the death of a patient at St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, N. Y., who mistakenly was given carbon dioxide instead of oxygen.

The patient, John H. McCooney, 53, of (18 Francis St.) Port Jervis, died on the operating table May 10 as he was being prepared for an operation for stomach ulcers.

"The grand jury has determined that there is no basis for indictment against any of the parties concerned in this matter," said the report handed up to Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery.

"Although there was error in filling and labeling the tank and although this caused the death of Mr. McCooney, it does not indicate culpable or criminal negligence," the report stated.

Orange county and Port Jervis officials conducted an investigation immediately after McCooney's death and reported the label on the cylinder "indicated that it contained oxygen only, whereas in fact it contained carbon dioxide." The coroner issued a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation.

Supplied in Newburgh. The authorities also announced that the cylinder was supplied by the Newburgh Oxygen Co., 199 Broadway, Newburgh, N. Y., from which the hospital had obtained its anesthetic supplies in the past.

The grand jury recommended that a legislative committee conduct an investigation with a view to proposing legislation for proper control of anesthetic gases.

The grand jury reported that from the serial number on the cylinder in question and an examination of the records of the Newburgh Oxygen Co., and the hospital, it was found that this same cylinder, delivered on April 25th, 1950, which was labeled oxygen and contained carbon dioxide, had been delivered to St. Francis Hospital on Dec. 15, 1949, then labeled carbon dioxide and then containing carbon dioxide.

"There had been no change in the color of the cylinder on either of these occasions," the report said.

The grand jury found that the only means of identification of the cylinders is a small tag or label attached to them.

No Standard Practice. The report said there did not appear to be a standard practice in hospitals of checking the contents of gas tanks upon arrival, other than inspecting the label.

"This incident," the report said, "as well as an examination of other tanks at St. Francis Hospital."

American Arms Likely to Get First Use in Battle

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The Korean war front may become a testing ground for new and improved American weapons.

Right now United States forces, locked in a bitter land battle with a surprisingly powerful enemy, are using whatever they had handy when they were rushed into what started as a mere "police action."

As the fighting goes on, additional weapons will be brought in—possibly including many new ones.

On the basis of the type of warfare currently predominating in Korea, speculation at the Pentagon is that ground force weapons likely will be the first to undergo any battle-testing. Such trials under the hard, punishing conditions of actual combat are considered essential to get the "bugs" out of new designs.

However, the possibility was discounted that radically new weapons of mass destruction, like atomic bombs, might be given field trials. For one thing, there are no logical Korean targets for A-bombs, which are designed for strategic destruction of industrial points and cities.

But such arms as the new "super bazooka" and the light, accurate recoilless gun might eventually be tried out against the North Koreans' definitely good tanks and artillery positions.

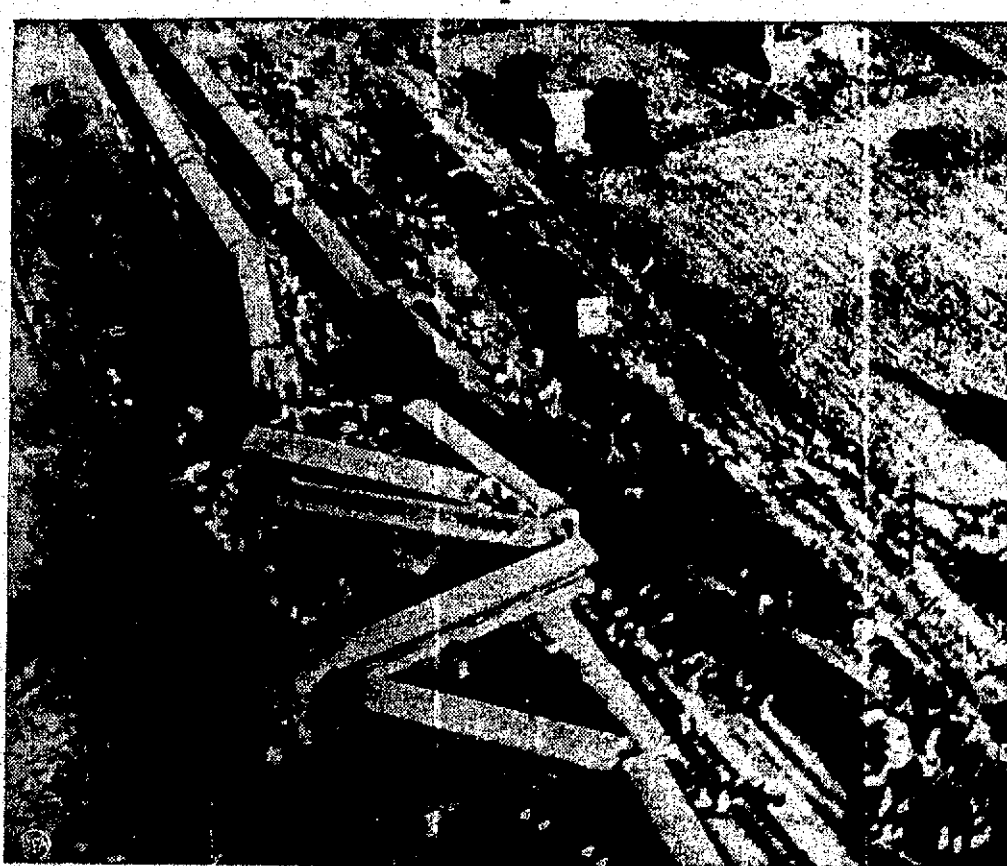

No Tanks Reported. Up to the present, there have been no reports from Korea indicating that United States tanks have entered the field to contest enemy armored columns. Presumably, this is because there hasn't yet been time to ship tanks to the front from Japanese bases.

As for the situation in the air, officials here incline to the view that if the war continues with only North Korean planes and pilots, any testing of new American aviation equipment probably will be limited.

So far as is known, the North Korean air force consists of definitely second-line aircraft—Rus-

Death Jumps the Rails

Dr. Seeley Resigns His Position on Board of Health

Ill Health Causes Action; Dr. John Krom Is Appointed in His Place

The Rev. Frank B. Seeley, D.D., pastor emeritus of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and a member of the Ulster County Department of Health since its organization on January 1, 1947, submitted his resignation to the Board of Supervisors at a special meeting held Thursday evening.

Dr. Seeley has been president of the board since its organization. The resignation was accepted with regret and Dr. John B. Krom of Kingston was appointed to serve out the term of Dr. Seeley.

Dr. Seeley's resignation was submitted because of ill health. Also received by the board last evening was the resignation of James H. Heaton of Clintondale as county auditor and purchasing agent, effective as of July 1, 1950.

Appointed to fill the vacancy was Joseph Gentile of Ellenville who has been serving as night auditor under Sheriff George Smith. Mr. Heaton has served as county auditor and purchasing agent since 1936 when that position was created.

Resolution Adopted. The board also adopted a resolution fixing the salary of the sheriff of the county at $7,500 a year, effective January 1, 1951, and after that date all fees from civil work will be returned to the county. Over the past few years

Council Takes First Steps Toward Considering Housing

Reports Minimize Carroll Complaints

Show Crossing Project Is Progressing With Least Inconvenience

Reports of officials to Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk on conditions in conjunction with the Groenkill avenue phase of the Broadway crossing project, as read at last night's Common Council session, minimized some and voided other charges in a resolution offered by Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll last June 7.

The alderman said last night however, that "conditions were remedied slightly," since he introduced the resolution, but he felt there were "still dangerous and unhealthy conditions."

Carroll's June resolution held that the way in which the project was being handled, among other things, resulted in a fire hazard for the area, but the report of Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy to Mayor Newkirk said "fire protection in this area is better now than before construction started."

The resolution also struck at poor lighting conditions, but City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan's report to the mayor said "a substitution of like candlepower has been made for a light not replaced so that identically the same lighting facilities are serving the area that served heretofore."

Mayor Newkirk's letter to the council said that he and department agents have kept in touch with contractors to minimize inconveniences.

It said in part: "I most respectfully submit the attached reports from City Engineer Arthur Hallinan, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Superintendent John J. Byrne. Also a report from the School Budget Receives Approval; Fund Is Authorized for Project

The Common Council last night took a first step toward consideration of a new housing project, approved the school budget fixing a tax rate of $15.28, and authorized $30,000 for the Browning Terrace development.

An amended application for a 100 dwelling unit housing project at an estimated cost of $1,181,500 to be built in the Flatbush avenue area, was referred to the Laws and Rules committee.

State approval for the project was received here Wednesday by the local housing authority and is subject to action of the council and the planning board, whose approval is required first after public hearing.

Approval of the school budget was on request of the Board of Education following the recent public hearing. The amount to be raised by tax is $483,435.44 and the total estimated expenditure for the year is $1,407,416.64.

Action on the $30,000 for the Browning Terrace project in the Miller's Lane area followed communications from Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly and the finance committee.

The council voted in special session May 17 to accept the deed for property on which the street will be built and at the same time requested the $30,000 to defray cost.

Will Pay 75 Per Cent. Upon completion of the project and completion of the cost, the property owners benefited will pay 75 per cent of the cost. The city finances the work on this basis in all such projects, the corporation counsel explained.

Walter Donnarumma, who is in charge of building the homes, when the plan was originally announced.

Comeback Staged; 2 Towns Fall

Pyeongtaek, Chungju Are Recaptured by Yanks, South Koreans in Counter Move

May Hit Industry

Industrial Mobilization Seen as Possible Step in U. S.

Tokyo, July 7 (AP)—General MacArthur said in his communique tonight North Korean Communists pressed their enveloping movement with two divisions in the Pyongtaek area, 23 miles south of Suwon.

MacArthur said the front line reached from a point north of Chonan, the most southern point approached by the Reds, northwest to Magung, which is 25 miles west of Pyongtaek, to Chungju and on to the east coast.

The general said from west to east the first, third and fourth North Korean divisions were spearheading the advance.

The fifth division was probing west from Wonju with some elements moving west of Anson.

Activity Is Reported. Guerrilla activity was reported on the east coast near Yongdok, 100 miles south of the 38th parallel, the communique said.

Earlier in Korea, a South Korean source had reported the recapture of Pyongtaek and Chungju from the Reds in an apparent counter move by the American and South Korean forces.

A South Korean colonel, considered reliable, said the report of the recapture of the two towns from North Korean Reds was made to the South Korean army.

American headquarters in Korea had not reported recapture of the towns. Both were taken by the Communists yesterday.

An unconfirmed South Korean report said a Red column headed by two tanks and two armored cars threatened the southeastern Pusan area. The east coast force was reported 80 miles north of the important port and supply base where the first American ashore troops were landed in Korea.

Look Big Fight. The Korean colonel said "It took a big fight" to wrest Chungju from the Reds. U. S. troops have been fighting alongside South Koreans around both towns.

Meanwhile, both sides rushed men and supplies into the muddy, red clay along the winding Kum river for what appeared to be an imminent battle involving upwards of 10,000 Korean Reds and a small American force.

The rugged river country just north of Taejon is likely to become the battleground.

The American commander in Korea estimated the northern invaders' strength. He said the Reds had thrown 15 divisions and 150 tanks into South Korea. He estimated the Communist fighting men at between 75,000 and 90,000. Some divisions, he said, were at brigade strength.

Ability Is Proved. So fast were the Communists pouring in it was a question whether the Americans would have time to check the powerful thrust. But this much was certain—those Americans thus far tested in battle were able. A handful of them—possibly no more than 500—stopped cold for six hours the best division the Russian trained Koreans threw at them.

The grim news of the huge Red reinforcements came as American and Australian airmen pounded the enemy. They reported 18 tanks knocked out.

U. S. B-29's hit a North Korean port, too. Pilots bombed what appeared to be four submarines in Chinnampo harbor. The northerners are not known to have any subs. But Russia, from whose huge arms larder the North Koreans are drawing great stores, has an estimated 75 submarines in the Pacific.

Costly Struggle Seen. Washington, July 7 (AP)—Administration officials are beginning to assess the Korean war as a long, difficult and costly struggle on the part of the United States.

Depending on how the actual fighting goes, this development of

One Contest Only Seen Apparent at G.O.P. Convention

Schantz and Anderson Are Seeking Support; No Opposition Seen for Others

On the eve of the Republican county convention, which will be held Saturday at 11 o'clock at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, there appears to be only one office for which a contest may develop, that of sheriff.

For several weeks past the two prospective candidates for the office of sheriff, former Sheriff Howard C. Anderson of Accord and Cluett Schantz, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Marlborough, have been seeking support. Whether the contest will go to the floor of the convention remains to be seen. Both were still in the race today.

To Endorse Wicks, Wharton. The convention will undoubtedly endorse J. Ernest Wharton of Summit, Schoharie county, as the Republican candidate for member of Congress to succeed Hon. Jay LeFevre of New Paltz who has announced his intention to retire from office.

Endorsement of Senator Arthur H. Wicks as the senatorial candidate to succeed himself. Edward E. Murray of town of Shawangunk appears to be the only one in the field for county commissioner of public welfare and undoubtedly will succeed himself to that office.

Sterley to Be Named. Surrogate John B. Sterley of Kingston will be named to succeed himself as candidate for that office.

For the office of coroner it is expected Michael A. Galletta, Glasco, will be named. When Jesse McHugh of Wallkill was elected to the board of supervisors last fall he resigned as coroner and Galletta was named to fill that vacancy. He is the logical candidate for recommendation by the convention.

In addition to recommending candidates for county offices, delegates to the state convention and also state committeemen will be named.

Say 8 Red Divisions Playing War Games in East Germany

Berlin, July 7 (AP)—U. S. intelligence agents disclosed today that the Russians have stepped up normal summer maneuvers in East Germany.

These informants said that in East Germany eight Soviet divisions are going through special exercises. Some involve tank-supported river crossings.

Experts, who with increased interest have noted every Russian move here since the Korean fighting broke out, said this increased Red troop activity could be a normal step—designed to let the Germans know who is boss and possibly to give western allies a dose of jitters.

A senior American officer concurred in this view and said Allied military leaders aren't too concerned about the stepped-up Soviet maneuvers.

American intelligence agents have been told to watch the Russian moves closely, however, on the chance that the Soviets might be planning to stage something similar to the Korean action over here.

The informants said that five Soviet divisions are training between Berlin and the Elbe river.

Demonstrate Powder As Fire Extinguisher

A recently developed dry chemical fire extinguishing agent was demonstrated to members of the Kingston Fire Department on Thursday.

The new powder-like chemical is manufactured by the American LaFrance Company and marketed under the trade name Alfco. It is contained in 25-pound tanks and expelled by a CO₂ cylinder. It has a range of about 18 feet and is discharged by a pressure of 180 pounds per square inch.

In Thursday's demonstration, a large hole was dug at the Sterling street dump and crank case oil and gasoline were ignited in the hole. The dry chemical was apparently very effective in extinguishing the fire.

Dr. Seeley Resigns

the sheriff's fee for civil work has averaged about $3,600. Floor Leader Kenneth Wilson stated. The salary of the sheriff has been $5,500, together with the fees collected, gave an annual income of approximately $9,000.

Another change in the county government to coincide with a new law was the change of the beginning of the fiscal year from November 1 of each year to January 1. This change came under the provisions of a new law effective July 1, 1950 by which the office of Budget Officer becomes mandatory.

The County Budget Officer is required to make up the county budget each year after each of the various departments and officers of the county have submitted their own line estimates of cost to him. These various estimated operation costs are then integrated into a county budget, a new hearing is held and the budget is then adopted by the Board of Supervisors. Under the new law the estimates from the various departments and officers of the county must be submitted to the Budget Officer by September. Under the new law the multitude of separate resolutions calling for appropriations for various departments which have in the past been introduced at the annual session in the fall will be eliminated and the budget estimates of the different departments will all go in under one resolution.

Snyder Is Named

Robert A. Snyder, clerk of the board, was named Budget Officer and a salary of $900 for the balance of the current year was voted. Named as Assistant Budget Director was William Taylor, deputy clerk of the board, who will receive an additional $400 for the balance of the year as assistant to the Budget Officer. The salaries will be paid from the Surplus Fund.

Named to the Budget Committee, a new committee, was Cluett Schantz, Kenneth Wilson, Howard C. Anderson, Albert Cook and Ralph Williams.

Communications Received

A communication was received from the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, asking that the county treasurer be authorized to deduct from the payroll of those consenting, money for sickness benefit for employees who seek to join that plan.

In accepting the resignations of Dr. Seeley and J. H. Heaton resolutions of regret were offered and the Board voted to send copies of such resolutions to both men.

The long service and qualifications of James H. Heaton, or Jay Heaton as he is affectionately known, were pointed out. The resolution in part said:

"James H. Heaton has long occupied a prominent place in the affairs of the county, having served the town of Plattekill as its supervisor, and being a member of important committees during his term of office. It is with a sense of deep regret that the resignation of this long and loyal official is accepted. His pleasant and pleasant personality have endeared him to all who know him, and his presence will be greatly missed in and around the court house, and it is hoped that in his retirement Jay Heaton will continue to visit the court house, and take an active part in the affairs of this community. This board regretfully accepts the resignation of Jay Heaton, and wishes to make this public expression of its appreciation for the long and faithful services he has performed in the interests of the better government of this county, and that the Board of Supervisors wishes him God speed and good luck, and the wish that he will be available for counsel and advice from time to time."

Resolution on Dr. Seeley

The following resolution was unanimously adopted in accepting the resignation of Dr. Seeley as a member and president of the Board of Health of Ulster County: "WHEREAS, the Rev. Seeley is a highly respected member of this community and is loved and respected by all who know him in respect of race, color or creed,

WHEREAS, Doctor Seeley has been affectionately known, has given generously of his talent to many civic movements in the City of Kingston and County of Ulster, and

WHEREAS, Doctor Seeley has demonstrated his interest in the well-being of his fellow citizens by taking an active part in things pertaining to the field of public health, and his association with and the giving of counsel and advice in the operation of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, has been a great factor in the outstanding success it has achieved, and

Say 8 Divisions

They reported another three Red divisions holding war games north of Berlin in the Mecklenburg area, trying to illustrate the best way of encircling the fortified position.

In the course of the maneuvers, the Russians have shifted divisions from Magdeburg to Dessau and north from there along the Elbe river, facing the British zone.

Between now and the end of August, Allied experts believe the Russians will stage at least half a dozen maneuvers to sharpen the training of their East German armies. The People's Police, who have been expanded into what amounts to an infantry force, will be used for odd jobs in these maneuvers.

The high American officer, minimizing the significance of the maneuvers, commented:

"The Soviet Army in East Germany had 20 divisions in 1946. It is 20 divisions in 1950. It is no bigger than before and certainly a lot less effective than it was in the past. The total number of Red soldiers is pegged at about 200,000. The Korean outburst did not affect it in the least."

Tokyo, July 7 (AP)—Peter Kallischer, United Press correspondent in Korea, returned safely to American headquarters in Korea today after being cut off from American forces two and a half days. The United Press in Tokyo said Kallischer declared he had not been captured. The Red Pyongyang radio yesterday said he had been taken prisoner.

Two New Designs

In addition, at least two new U. S. anti-aircraft designs have gone into production. Delivery to the army of one of these—the "Sky-Sweeper"—started several months ago. There also have been improved radar gun sights and aircraft detection equipment.

At sea, the navy may be presumed to be using new and improved models of submarine and aircraft detection devices, in addition to recently improved designs of rockets and bombs launched from carrier-based aircraft.

If Russia openly takes a part in the Korean war, the whole complexion of the "testing ground" atmosphere can change.

a less optimistic outlook about an early end to the conflict apparently means a steady buildup of American forces in the war area—with increasing requirements for money, men and munitions.

In addition, the United States is confronted with the need to (1) keep up a billion-dollar flow of arms to western Europe, the Middle East, and southeast Asia and (2) keep its own forces prepared to deal with any further moves by the Soviet-controlled Communist bloc.

The administration thus far has withheld any indication of what measures it may eventually take. But some highly placed informants now believe that a degree of industrial mobilization may be essential.

This would be intended to assure production of the weapons necessary to meet the Communist challenge all along the line, from central Europe through the Middle East and southeast Asia into the western Pacific and Korea.

President Truman, who has responsibility for final decisions, has maintained a wait-and-see attitude on further moves. This was reflected in his answers to questions at his news conference yesterday.

Asked specifically whether he will seek additional funds from Congress, Mr. Truman said he had no plans at the present time to do so. We left open the possibility of a special appropriations request in the future.

Civilian Defense Program Outlined For Empire State

New York, July 7.—Governor Dewey declared today that President Truman's administration had failed to furnish guidance for civilian defense and that New York state therefore "must proceed in the dark."

Obviously spurred by the Korean war, Dewey told a news conference in Albany before leaving for New York that the state had been working a year on its C-D organization. He outlined an eight-point program of development.

It was the second attack in as many days on the national administration by the twice-defeated Republican presidential candidate. Dewey has renounced future White House aspirations and has said he will not be a candidate for re-election as governor.

Yesterday, Dewey called for all-out U. S. production of essential war material "to match and then outstrip Soviet production of arms." He contended the Truman administration had not made full use of available military appropriations in meeting the Korean situation.

Dewey said today the civilian defense problem was "immense in its ramifications" and involved a "panorama of activity."

New York state has received "no guidance from the federal government" so we must proceed in the dark, which "we're doing," he declared.

Conferences Scheduled
Dewey has scheduled a series of conferences here today and tomorrow to review the state's C-D program. He is considering possible civilians to fill two seats on the nine-member Civilian Defense Commission created by the 1950 legislature. State Department heads comprise the rest of the commission membership.

The governor outlined this eight-point program underway for the state's civilian defense:

1. Organization of a volunteer fire warden system, similar to that of World War 2.

2. Perfection of an air-spotter system to detect enemy air attacks. (Dewey noted that the Air National Guard had held preliminary raid warning drills in the state last fall.)

3. Organization of the public to prevent possible panic in case of attack.

4. Plans for a partial evacuation of any section of the state bombed.

5. Cooperation with the neighboring states of New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Massachusetts for evacuation of large areas.

6. Protection of the water supply in the event of bombings or poisonings.

7. Plans to combat an outbreak of plague or wholesale disease.

8. An emergency food supply setup.

The C-D Commission will head a statewide defense framework with city and county units. The system is designed to cope with a sneak attack.

The Legislature provided $100,000 to get the state organization underway.

The commission will have "all basic authority" to set up C-D machinery. It will appoint a state director of civil defense. It also will have authority to adopt regulations in peacetime and to adopt and enforce directives in wartime.

Married in Rome
Rome, July 7.—James B. Nolan, deputy police commissioner of New York city, and Mrs. Joan O'Halloran Giddings of 84 33rd avenue, Jackson Heights, Long Island were married yesterday in the Basilica of St. Peter. The ceremony was performed by Titular Archbishop Francesco Bettréti.

The bride is the widow of the late Dr. Emanuel Giddings, former medical superintendent of Kings County Hospital. The couple will leave Sunday for Paris and Dublin and plan to sail August 1 for New York aboard the SS America.

Lucile Carpenter Takes New Job in Honolulu
Miss Lucile Carpenter, an instructor at the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing for two years, has resigned to accept a position at the Children's Hospital in Honolulu, Hawaii.

It also was announced today that the new class of student nurses to begin training this year at the hospital will commence the probationary class September 11. Sufficient applications have been received to fill this year's quota and as a result the makeup of the September class is nearly completed.

Miss Alma Porter, director of the School of Nursing at the hospital, recently attended a meeting in Poughkeepsie called by the police foundation.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the care of police patients and its latest developments. Particular stress was given to the obtaining of adequately trained personnel for the handling of these patients.

Little Mother of Guam Visits Los Angeles

Los Angeles, July 7.—The "little mother of Guam" has grown up—and she's a beauty.

Six years ago, when Dolores Mesa was 12, her mother was deported by the Japanese as a spy. She fled to the jungle with three younger sisters and small brother and cared for them until the Americans came. Then she took an even larger brood under her wing, slipping into enemy camps with food for American prisoners of war. The troops gave her the title.

Today, Dolores is in Los Angeles on a tour of the United States won in a beauty contest sponsored by the Guam Lions Club. She received more than 100,000 votes at 5 cents a vote, raising $5,000 for a tuberculosis sanitarium in Guam.

Selective Service Law Is Explained

Due to the renewal of the Selective Service Law of 1948, there has been a considerable increase in the number of inquiries reaching the Local Board office and concerning requirements of the law. Chairman Frank L. Meagher, of Local Board No. 19, said today.

Meagher explained that one important requirement of registrants is to report to the board without delay any change in the address or of marital relationship is such a change. Failure to inform the Local Board of a change of status may lead to the Local Board reporting the registrant as a delinquent. All changes of status should be reported to the board by mail so the information will become a part of the registrant's record.

The chairman also stated that registrants are required to secure from their Local Board a permit to leave the country if they contemplate crossing the border. Such a permit may be obtained by writing to the board, giving the registrant's name, where he intends to go, and when he plans to return. Immigration officials require possession of the permit in order to leave the country.

Chairman Meagher added that 18-year olds should be reminded that they are required to register when they reach their 18th birthday, although liability for training and service does not begin until they reach their 19th birthday. The registration place for Local Board No. 19 is 516 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Americans have pulled back in Korea, leaving their own wounded behind.

This is what front-line dispatches say.

I can tell you how this makes you feel. It makes you feel like you aren't an American. You don't even feel like a man. It takes away your dignity. You need a shower.

How the wounded feel I don't know. I was lucky. I wasn't hit. But I sure ran like hell in the two major retreats that United States forces made in the Second World War.

It is kind of healthy to run from a long term point of view when there isn't much else you can do.

The first time was in the battle which the home folks call Kasserine Gap. Actually, we stood pretty well at Kasserine Gap. The real retreat was a few days before at a place called Fald Pass—pronounced Fah-see—in a continent called Africa and a country named Tunisia.

This is where General George S. Patton's son-in-law was captured, trying to hold one of two hills outside Fald Pass.

Just about two years later Gen. Patton freed his son-in-law by a bold thrust of his Third Army, once renewed, in a push beyond the Rhine. He was one of several prisoners-of-war camps the Patton army brought release to in its march through Germany.

Back to Tunisia.

But to go back to Tunisia:

Then they blamed the breakthrough of Rommel's African Korps on the grounds that the American troops, both infantry and armor, were green and inexperienced.

Having come out alive from this retreat myself and having seen men go bravely forward to die there, I cannot accept this canard against their memory, I said then, have said more than once since then, and still say today, this—they were outgunned and outmaneuvered on the ground and in the air, and no troops I have ever seen fought better with less. Their great country just didn't have what these great men needed—when they needed it. Later the supplies did come, and if I rake over this old sore today it is only because I know how the outmaneuvered, outgunned American outposts in Korea feel.

Uncle Sam Has Promised

They feel that at the moment, just as the boys felt in Tunisia more than eight years ago, that death is near, mama isn't here—and Uncle Sam only has promised to come. He did come in time, of course, in Tunisia. And he came in power. But naturally some of the battle pioneers weren't left by then. I remember a few of their faces . . . it was so long ago . . . and the graves registration unit has their serial numbers.

Most of those boys are by now back home, sleeping beside relatives who died of kidney disease and other local ailments.

I started out to tell about two retreats I had made with the American forces. The second one was the Battle of the Bulge, and the same terror wasn't there. Fear can't make you as helpless twice over. You swallow it or go crazy.

What makes me feel sad right now about the American troops being knocked back in Korea—and you don't have to tell me that they are outgunned and outmaneuvered, because, naturally, they don't walk on their heels for fun—is that the stories from the front indicate they are young.

It may be treachery to memory, but somehow I wish they were all veterans, guys who had been it happen to them before.

The hardest thing about war is you hate to hurt beginners. A fellow ought to be old enough to follow once before he dies.

Three Bridges Are Used by 124,195 Cars Over Holiday

According to the New York State Bridge Authority more vehicles used the three upper Hudson river spans during this year's July 4 holiday period than in 1949.

However, it was pointed out by William K. Hagginbotham, executive officer of the Authority, that this year the vacation travel lasted one day more than last.

Traffic on the three bridges for four days in 1949 totaled 100,734 vehicles. The 1950 total for five days was 124,195.

In making the report, the Authority gave out figures pertaining to business on the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry, pointing out that the busiest day was Sunday July 2.

During the five-day period, the ferry carried 2,388 vehicles and 950 pedestrians across the river. On Sunday, July 2, it transported 641 vehicles and 182 pedestrians.

No figures were available at the Bridge Authority office for last year's holiday business.

Comparison of bridge traffic for last year's four-day holiday period with this year's five days is as follows:

Bridge	1949	1950
Po'keepsie . . .	43,945	53,254
Catskill	28,054	35,357
Bear Mt.	28,735	35,584
Total	100,734	124,195
Daily averages on the three bridges for the two years were:
Bridge	1949	1950
Po'keepsie . . .	10,986	10,651
Catskill	7,013	7,071
Bear Mt.	7,184	7,115
Total	25,183	24,837

Other figures were released today showing that the general trend in bridge traffic over a 173 period is up. For the entire month of June, traffic on the Mid-Hudson Bridge was up almost seven percent over last June, the Rip Van Winkle Bridge was up more than 20 per cent and the Bear Mountain Bridge was up more than 10 per cent over June, 1949.

This trend was reversed in the case of the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry. The ferry carried 8,864 vehicles and 2,851 pedestrians across the river in June, 1950, compared to 8,985 vehicles and 3,598 pedestrians in June, 1949. One possible reason for the decline in vehicular traffic on the ferry was that last year the Calais Road Improvement Company was sending truck loads of stone across the river then, but has not been doing so this year.

The Simple Truth About "EASY TERMS"

It is often more convenient to buy a car out of income, rather than pay cash.

But to do so involves additional cost. So it is important to keep this cost as low as possible. For instance, twenty-four months of financing service costs twice as much as twelve.

The cheapest and best way to buy on time payments is to pay all you can down and pay as much per month as you can comfortably afford.

Don't be misled by so-called "Easy" payments. Take time to check on all costs as well as services proposed when you buy.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

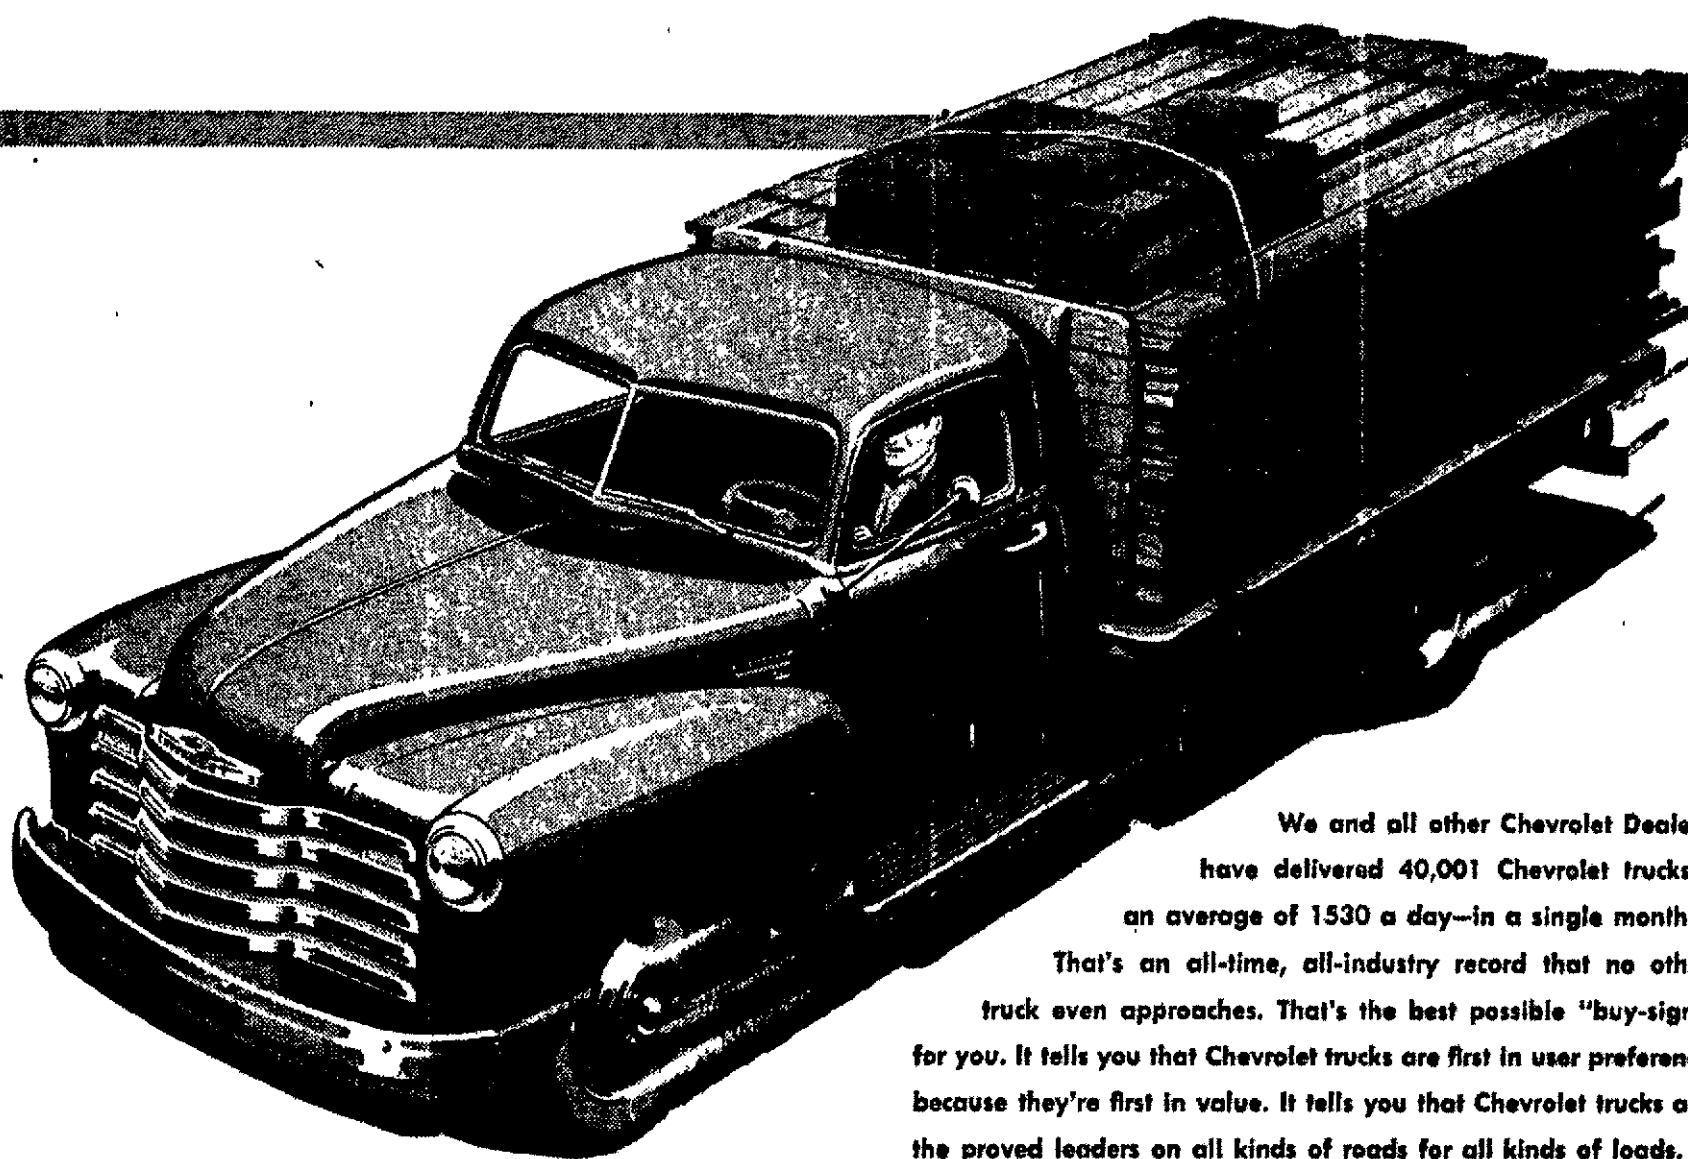

How many folks of the Ponckhockie section remember Christopher Joseph Burke, who now lives at 29 Condict street, Jersey City, N. J.? He was 92 years old this past June 7 and back in the good olden days drove mules and horses on the old D. & H. Canal. He is the only charter member living of the Union Hose Fire Co., No. 4, which will celebrate its 75th anniversary next year, and he hopes to be there for the celebration. His son, Thomas Burke, said his father remembers old times around here, and that he is already thinking of making the trip to Kingston to see many of his old friends at the Union Fire Co. Thomas Burke is a cousin to Art Rafferty, who is a toll-gate keeper on the Poughkeepsie bridge. No doubt, his uncle, Christopher, remembers when they had toll-gates on the old Plank Road.

Myron Teller gave me many interesting items, among which was a large photo of the City Hall, directly after the fire of 1927. The observation tower is gone, and the windows blackened. I understand it was later rebuilt by Mr. Teller. A. T. Clearwater, historian of Kingston writes about it in a booklet of September 12th, 1929, as follows: "Outstanding achievement of the present city administration is the rebuilding of our City Hall, originally designed by Arthur Crooks, a talented architect of New York. Its general characteristics are those of the celebrated Palazzo Vecchio of Florence, Italy. Originally there were large unoccupied spaces in the building. These have been reclaimed. The third floor originally intended as a general meeting place, was abandoned as unfitted for that purpose. The new Common Council Chamber, a spacious room with a seating capacity for 400 spectators, now fills that space and is one of the most beautiful Council rooms in the State. It is paneled in soft tones of tan and just below the ceiling above these panels gleams the dull silver finish of a historical frieze. Large windows at rear command view of city and of Catskills and provide abundance of light and air. A huge wrought iron chandelier pending from a decorated panel in ceiling is supplemented by four smaller chandeliers, while candle fixtures flank each wall panel providing a flood of clear illumination.

Clearwater describes the frieze as follows: Starting at left above windows. The Wynkoop House where Gen. Washington and his staff were entertained in 1782. A scene of Wall street around 1830. The Old Kingston Academy now occupied by the Ulster County News and Leader. S. W. View of 1st Dutch Church as rebuilt after the Revolution. The Senate House, Ulster County Court House, fur trading with Indians at Rondout. Rachel DuMont, the brave girl of the Revolution, who warned the citizens of the coming of the British on October 16th, 1777. Washington's letter to the free holders and commonality of the Town of Kingston following his visit after the burning of Kingston. George Clinton. The old seal of the village of Kingston. Three Musicians . . . and a Stradivarius

Concert in Woodstock Will Feature World-Famous Musicians; 'New' Strad

Jacqueline Marcault and William Kroll, two of the finest musicians of this generation, both of whom have concertized throughout the world, will join in a landmark concert in Woodstock Sunday, which will also mark the public debut (in his hands) of Kroll's recently purchased Stradivarius violin.

They will play two works together, and then will be joined by Cynthia Britt, who played principal cellist last winter with the Minneapolis Symphony, for a trio. The concert will be held at the Maverick Concert Hall at 4 p. m.

The calibre of the playing of the pianist, Mme. Marcault, may be judged by the fact that the eminent cellist Casals revered everywhere as the greatest living string player—chose her to play with him at his farewell performance in the south of France in March, 1947.

She has played with the BBC Symphony, at the Edinburgh Festival, with symphony orchestras and in recitals in all the major cities of Italy, France, Switzerland, Belgium, England, Ireland and Holland. She studied with the famous French pianist, Cortot.

William Kroll—who made his first public appearance as a violinist at the age of three and a half—is best known as one of America's leading chamber musicians. He was first violinist with the Coldridge String Quartet for 10 years, and then founded his own Kroll Quartet which has concertized throughout the United States, Mexico and the Hawaiian Islands.

He has made solo appearances with such orchestras as the Boston Symphony and has played many times at the Tanglewood Festival, where he is now co-head with Platiorsky of the

Preparing for a unique concert Sunday, three of the nation's top musicians are caught by the Freeman photographer in an informal rehearsal. They are William Kroll, concert violinist, founder of the Kroll Quartet and co-head of Tanglewood's chamber music department, Jacqueline Marcault, the pianist who was chosen by the revered cellist Casals to play in his farewell performance in France in 1947, and Cynthia Eddy Britt, who played as principal cellist last winter with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. They will join in a concert Sunday at the Maverick Concert Hall, Woodstock, at 4 p. m. Below, Mr. Kroll admires the magnificent workmanship of the Stradivarius violin he purchased two months ago. Magazine Campaign To Be Launched Soon By Legion Auxiliary

The Ulster County Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary today announced that its fourth annual magazine subscription campaign would begin next week. Commissions derived this year will be used to purchase wheel chairs and general sick room equipment. Mrs. Charles Maley, county chairman-elect, announced. As a result of the previous campaigns, the committee has been able to purchase hospital beds and mattresses, available for temporary use, without charge, to any resident. The committee feels that the equipment it plans to purchase this year will be a much-needed addition to the various loan closets in the county where it will be housed. Only accredited representatives of the publishers, bearing letters of introduction and identification from the committee, signed by Mrs. Maley, will call on residents to explain the plan in detail. Residents should request to see the letter of introduction, to eliminate any misrepresentation by an unauthorized person. Donations are not to be solicited or accepted. The committee again wishes to announce that the present equipment and that which they plan to buy, is housed at various loan closets throughout the county when not in use. Any resident needing any of this equipment should telephone the Ulster County Health Department, or contact a public health nurse.

Two Are Found Dead

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 7 (AP)—John Guy Gilpatrick, 34, noted writer and author of the well-known Glencannon stories, and his wife, Maudie Louise Gilpatrick, 52, were found shot to death in their home here early today. Deputy coroner James W. Webster listed the case as murder and suicide, committed by the author. Mrs. Gilpatrick's body was found in the bedroom. Gilpatrick's lay near the door. Beside it was a gun. Webster said the shooting apparently took place late yesterday. The bodies were found by Robert H. French, who lives at the same address, when he came home early today. The Glencannon stories have appeared for years in the Saturday Evening Post. The Gilpatricks had lived in Santa Barbara for about six years.

They Prefer December

New York, July 7 (AP)—June is tops for weddings in most states, but the people of Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas and Georgia apparently think December is better. So concluded statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who reported today that in four southern states, more couples marry in December. Utah—in a class by itself—favors the month of May for matrimony.

TALKING ABOUT YOUR CHILDREN

I think most of us need reminding occasionally on this score. If there were not a dozen others in this group who think as I do (most of us having children ourselves) I'd hesitate to ask you please to point out how boring the subject of ne's own children can become to others. There are two ladies in our club whose children are never left out of our conversation. All conversations start with them and no matter how a topic is diverted to other subjects, go back to them.

I wish I knew the happy answer to this too often encountered problem. Unhappily, however, persistent lack of interested response is probably the only solution.

Wedding Reception at Church

Dear Mrs. Post: Does everyone have to be invited to come downstairs after the wedding ceremony in church to a reception in the Sunday school room? I hadn't intended to invite everyone but a friend tells me it couldn't be otherwise, that it would be rude. How should the invitations be worded to include this kind of reception?

Answer: I agree with your friend that under the circumstances it would be rude not to invite everyone. The refreshments at the reception, however, could be the very simplest. You can add at the bottom of the church invitations "and to greet them afterwards in the Sunday School room." This wording would not suggest a big reception.

Unusual Request

Dear Mrs. Post: Since I can't decide which of two patterns I want for my future silver, could I have the two? Would it be possible to mix two patterns on the same table provided they are similar and go well together?

Answer: You may use whatever pattern or combination of patterns you like. In countless houses—in many of the most perfectly appointed ones—the flat silver

Dodge Widow Is Sued By In-Law for $133,500

White Plains, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—The former son-in-law of Mrs. Anna T. Dodge, widow of the automobile manufacturer, filed suit for a $133,500 judgment against her.

The plaintiff, Timothy M. Godde, of Rye, N. Y., claimed that he waived rights to his wife's estate, in return for which her mother agreed to pay him $48,000 a year for life.

He said the agreement was signed after his wife, Mrs. Delphine Dodge Goode, died in 1943. In the Supreme Court suit, Godde said that for the past 38 months he had not received monthly installments of $4,000 as provided in the agreement, except for $18,500.

Justice J. Gordon Flannery reserved decision, after Mrs. Dodge's attorney filed a motion for further particulars on Godde's claim.

Act Called Aggression

London, July 7 (AP)—Transradio said today that the Albanian Assembly has condemned American intervention in Korea an "outright act of aggression against a free country."

ver is not matching for each course. As a matter of fact, notable collectors of old silver rarely set their tables with completely matching "sets."

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-6 includes a description of clothes to wear to the afternoon or evening wedding reception. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 98, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Reports Minimize

Manufacturers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
"It is with profound satisfaction that I find that these reports from the heads of the various departments show that certain conditions in this area of our community have improved in the light of greater protection to the people since the elimination project has been started."
These responsible public servants after thorough investigation have reported specifically on these improvements, which are outlined in these reports for your perusal.

Fire Chief's Report
Fire Chief Murphy's report to the mayor said "A new eight-inch water main has been laid along Greenhill avenue. A new six-inch main laid on Short street on the south side of the railroad tracks. The installation of the larger mains provides more water than the old and smaller mains."
The chief's report revealed further that "The fire department has planned in the event of fire, to lay hose lines from two directions. Companies from the central station entering Greenhill avenue from Broadway taking nearest hydrant to construction, and lay hose along the sidewalk. Companies from Wiltwyck station will lay hose from hydrant on Clinton avenue or Prospect street, depending on how far the construction has advanced. A. H. Wicks company will proceed to Cedar street and lay lines through yards to the rear of buildings on Greenhill avenue."

The chief's report stressed that "It is only reasonable to assume that the operation will be slowed up to a small degree, but not to the extent that efficient operation would be impaired." As work on the project progresses, he said, the department will be alerted.

Hallinan's Check
City Engineer Hallinan's report on lights said: "After a personal field check and a check with the power company, it is determined that all lights that were originally in place, are again in the same general location or a substitution of like candlepower has been made for a light not replaced so that identical heretofore." All temporary installations will be later placed permanently, he said.

On sidewalks, the engineer said, it is impossible to retain stone sidewalks while building sewers 30 feet below ground, but he held that a temporary cinder walkway, supplied by the state beyond contract responsibility, was "safe and adequate."
On accessibility, the engineer said that the street has been closed to public travel because of the new construction. Traffic may move freely over detours, he said, except near steel sheet piling on Greenhill avenue. Five properties cannot be reached by vehicle, but are accessible by foot. "While this is undoubtedly an inconvenience," he said, "it does not seem hazardous, and will in the end result in the elimination of greater hazards to public safety."

Hooked to Storm Sewer
A survey was made of eight residences following reports of sewage backing up, he said, and it was found that four of the eight properties "were surcharged." In all four, he said, there were fixtures in the cellar and roof leaders were connected to the sanitary soil line. Two others, which had no surcharge, did not have fixtures in the cellar, but did have the roof leaders connected to the soil line. "It was his opinion that the backing up was drainage and sanitary lines," John J. Byrne, superintendent of the water department, said. "To date no fire hazard due to lowering of water supply facilities has occurred in this area."
The Greenhill avenue project is a first major change in our water system, Byrne said. "A 65-year-old four-inch water main has been replaced between Clinton avenue and Broadway by a new eight-inch water main, and in addition 400 feet of new walk-in-water main has been installed across the tracks on the south side of the avenue. New and larger fire hydrants were installed and placed in service before old hydrants were disconnected."

Water supply for fire fighting is now greater, the report said, and "Fire hose tests now indicate that a sprinkler system can be installed in the Pilgrim Furniture Factory with ample water for the sprinkler system, leaving a considerable reserve for fire streams."

Breaks Repaired
Trouble was expected, he said, in the driving of steel sheet piling and the building of an extremely deep sewer, and "One water main was broken and an occasional house service has been broken. These were immediately repaired."
In changing from the old water main to the new, he said, domestic service has been shut off, "but in no case at the inconvenience of the tenant, and in no case for more than four hours."
"We hope," the report stressed, "that due to the excellent cooperation of the general contractor, our own contractor and our own forces that the project will continue with as little difficulty in the future as has happened in the past."
The Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance report said "There will be available for fire, a flow of 1,500 gallons at pressure of 35 pounds from the hydrant on Clinton avenue, which will be ample to supply the proposed sprinkler installation and leave considerable reserve for fire streams."

Glasco Man Held

was ordered held for grand jury action.
The arrest followed an investigation of a hit and run accident on the Woodstock-Saugerties road one-half mile from Saugerties about 6:30 p. m. Monday, in which James Fulton, about 80, of Fish Creek, a pedestrian, was fatally injured. Fulton died at the Benedictine Hospital Tuesday afternoon. The investigation was conducted by Sergeants Arthur A. Reilly and F. W. Hiltbrand and Troopers J. R. Ayers and H. Rasmussen.
Results of the investigation will be presented to the grand jury. Troopers did not elaborate this morning on how the investigation pointed to Gulluletti's arrest, except to say that "one lead led to another."

Walsh Is Nominated

nounced, said 28 houses would be built on the street.
The aldermen also adopted a measure favoring the continuance of appointment by the city's mayor of members of the Board of Education. A similar resolution was adopted recently by the education board, and the next step is to submit the proposal to the voters by referendum.
Communications from the Board of Public Works on its recent consideration of the extension of Florence and Abbey streets, were referred to the Laws and Rules Committee. The B.P.W. said it was waiting out further reports from City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan and the planning board before specific action.

Rules, Regulations
The council approved the rules and regulations of the planning board as submitted. A letter asking their approval said that no objection was made at a public hearing last June 12.
Three recommendations of the Traffic Control Committee were adopted. They were for restriction of parking (one hour only) on both sides of St. James street from Broadway to Prospect street; installation of stop-signs at Union and Auburn and Catherine and Sycamore streets; and placing a traffic light at Washington avenue and Pearl street.

Referred to Committee
An application of Donald M. Swan to amend the zoning ordinance for business zone designation of a frontage on Albany avenue of the Kingston Ice Co. property, was referred to the Laws and Rules Committee. The owner proposes to sell the property for business purposes, his letter said.
A claim for $14.25 filed by Frank Breitfelder, 286 Wall street, for repairs to an automobile fender was referred to the corporation counsel. The claimant said his car struck a tree which extended over the curb on Clinton avenue near St. James street last May 12.

U.N. Flag Opposed
Berlin, July 7 (AP)—The Soviet Army's local newspaper, Tagliche Rundschau, today denounced the proposed use of the United Nations flag by intervention forces in Korea as a "gross misuse of the U. N." The paper said that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be named as the commander of United Nations forces in Korea was also denounced by the Russian-controlled press here. It labeled MacArthur as a "Fascist dictator and aggressor."
